Information for Employers

Please be advised of the following:

- You don't have to use the Standard choice form when collecting information pertaining to choice super for your employee. This is an acceptable alternative document that covers all the information that the Standard choice form covers and thus can be used in its place.
- Once an employee advises you of their choice of super fund, you have two months to start paying contributions into that fund.
- You are required to keep this document on your records for five years.
