Total returns are calculated using the sell (exit) price, net of management fees and gross of tax as if distributions of income have been reinvested at the actual distribution reinvestment price. The actual returns received by an investor will depend on the timing, buy and exit prices of individual transactions. Return of capital and the performance of your investment in the fund are not guaranteed. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Figures showing a period of less than one year have not been adjusted to show an annual total return. Figures for periods of greater than one year are on a per annum compound basis. The current benchmark may not have been the benchmark over all periods shown in the above chart and tables. The calculation of the benchmark performance links the performance of previous benchmarks and the current benchmark over the relevant time periods.

Commentary

The net return of the Australian Ethical Income Fund (Retail & Wholesale) for the Quarter ended December 2022 was +0.8% (net of fees), ahead of the 0.7% for the benchmark Bloomberg Ausbond Bank Bills Index.

The quarter saw the tightening cycle for the Reserve Bank of Australia continuing, with rate rises at all three meetings through the quarter, slowing the pace of hikes to 0.25% in each of November and December.

With unemployment at a historic low of 3.4% indicative of tight labour markets, there is a risk wage pressures stoke further inflation, and the RBA remains poised to continue the tightening cycle in the first half of 2023. Market pricing implies a further 2 hikes are already priced in, though there remains uncertainty whether hikes delivered to date have been sufficient to tame inflation, whether more might yet be needed, or the lagged effect of hikes might yet see the economy shift into recession.

Short term yields moved higher as a result, albeit as a slower pace than earlier in 2022, with the 3 month bank bill swap rate moving 0.2% to 3.26% over the quarter, and 1y government bonds moved 0.16% to 3.33%. The modified duration of the fund remains short at 0.35, with floating rate securities adjusting their coupon to the higher BBSW benefiting from the move.

The fund continues to hold a mix of short-dated fixed rate securities, term deposits, mortgage and other asset backed securities, and floating rate notes in order to meet its return objectives.
