B Tax File Number Collection Statement

The Trustee is required by law to ask you to provide your Tax File number (TFN) for approved superannuation and taxation purposes. Collection of TFNs is authorised by the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (SIS) and other relevant acts. By including your TFN on this form and providing it to Christian Super, you allow the Trustee to use your TFN for lawful purposes, including;

- Complying with SIS legislation.
- Calculating tax on any superannuation benefits you may be entitled to.
- Finding and amalgamating your superannuation account when insufficient information is available.
- Passing your TFN to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).
- Providing your TFN to the superannuation entity or Retirement Savings Account provider receiving any benefit you may transfer (unless you request the Trustee in writing not to pass on your TFN).

Other than specified above, your TFN will not be disclosed to any other person or body.

You are not required to provide your TFN. Declining to quote your TFN is not an offence. However, if you do not give Christian Super your TFN either now or later;

- You may pay more tax on your superannuation benefit than you have to (you may be able to claim this back at the end of the financial year in your income tax assessment).
- From 1 July 2007, the fund will not be able to accept personal contributions and contributions your spouse makes for you; this also means you may miss out on super co-contributions.
- It may be more difficult to find your superannuation benefit if you change address without notifying Christian Super or to amalgamate any multiple superannuation accounts.
- From 1 July 2007, contributions an employer makes for you, including salary sacrifice contributions, and contributions you make and claim as an income tax deduction may be taxed an extra 31.5%.

The lawful purposes for which your TFN can be used and the consequences of not quoting your TFN may change in the future as a result of legislative changes.

For more information please contact Christian Super on 1300 360 907, or the ATO Superannuation helpline on 13 10 20
